CareSouth Carolina Announces the Closing of Dr. Hunt's Office in Bishopville

"Medicine, to me, gives me an opportunity to talk and show people the love of Jesus," Dr. Hunt said. "Over the years, people have come back and they say 'I remember you because we talked about the Lord.' Helping people and seeing people get well. You just can't put that into words."

As Dr. Hunt retires, he said he's looking forward to spending more time with his wife and children- who live in the Pee Dee area- as well as fishing and golfing.

"More than anything, I think it's time and I have no regrets about moving forward," Dr. Hunt said. "I'm going to turn in the keys, walk out of here and keep on enjoying life."

Thank You, Dr. Hunt, for 18 Years of Service with CareSouth Carolina!

Congratulations on Your Retirement!

Following Life-Saving Effort, Cameron Jackson named 2020 Employee of the Year

Cameron Jackson
2020 Employee of the Year

It was just a normal day back in May of 2020 at the CareSouth Carolina Rosa Lee Gerald Center when a patient came to the front desk to report a man slumped over the steering wheel in his car.

"The Code Help team found a man with no pulse, completely unresponsive, unable to be revived," Cameron Jackson's nomination read.

That's when Cameron Jackson, a Certified Medical Assistant/Blended Assistant, jumped into action.

"Our very own Cameron Jackson said, 'We need Narcan!' and ran to the Society Hill pharmacy, returned with Narcan, which was administered by Ms. Brown and Dr. Moyd [two provides at the CSC office]," the nomination said. "Within minutes, the patient was brought back from the dead, talking and actually began eating food he had with him. This was an accidental drug overdose. Thanks to Cameron's quick thinking, he was saved."

Jackson's quick thinking and action served as a life-saving measure. She was named the 2020 Employee of the Year for CareSouth Carolina.

"When I was told that I had won the award, I was in shock," Jackson said. "I just did this to try and save someone's life. I'm not one who enjoys being in the spotlight. To most, the patient is an addict but to his family, he is a son whose mother wants him alive and well. He is a father whose son doesn't deserve to hear that his father has died."

Being named the Employee of the Year for 2020 will certainly be something that Jackson doesn't forget anytime soon. While providing care during a pandemic, the CareSouth Carolina staff has experienced unprecedented challenges and obstacles.

New Chesterfield Location is NOW OPEN

For more than 15 years, CareSouth Carolina has served in the Chesterfield community and now the organization has opened a new 17,000-square foot state-of-the-art facility on Tuesday, January 12 illustrating its commitment to the community for the long-term.

The new facility, located at 204 Perry Wiley Way, more than quadruples CareSouth Carolina's capacity to provide services to Chesterfield County and its surrounding areas.

"CareSouth Carolina has been invested in the Chesterfield community for over 15 years," CareSouth Carolina CEO Ann Lewis said. "This has been a very long time in the making. We have outgrown our current location and this new facility will definitely fix the space problem and provide much needed expanded services to the area."

In addition to the services provided at the current location, the new facility will provide space for additional primary care providers, dental services, behavioral health counseling, x-ray, lab, ultrasound, pharmacy with a drive thru and a community room for various health and community events.
